

O&O SafeErase 19 with new Fortress technology

Berlin, April 30, 2024

O&O Software GmbH, a leading developer of system software for Windows, has released the new version 19 of O&O SafeErase. This expands the proven functions of O&O SafeErase with the innovative new Fortress technology and a revised user interface.

New features in O&O SafeErase 19: Fortress Mode

The new "Fortress Mode" feature in O&O SafeErase 19 creates its own Windows environment that works completely isolated from the environment of the actual Windows. This isolation of the system and data protects against access by other applications that can prevent secure deletion. This provides a completely secure and controlled environment for data deletion without the need for additional hardware.

New and modern User Interface

In order to further increase user-friendliness, the user interface of O&O SafeErase 19 has been completely revised. The new design is not only visually appealing, but also more functional, allowing users to navigate more intuitively and operate more easily.

O&O SafeErase 19 retains all of the proven features of previous versions, including reliable, thorough data erasure and support for various storage media such as hard drives and SSDs.

With O&O SafeErase 19, O&O Software sets new standards in the area of data security. "Our customers trust O&O SafeErase to safely remove their personal and business-critical data. With the new Fortress Mode, we offer a solution that contributes even more to protecting our users' sensitive data," says Olaf Kehrer, Managing Director of O&O Software.
